Want to tread the "Royal" road for an evening? The NEW PLUSH HORSE will cloak you in the silk of gourmet food, superb service, and entertainment de luxe to make your evening a memorable one.

We speak from delightful experience and when making a list of "habits we would like to make" the Plush Horse will be a headliner.

As a preview of an "event evening" with a reasonable tab, H. D. Burg, veteran restaurateur and guiding hand of the Plush Horse since the first of the year, has introduced such guest-repeat features as chafing dish entrees prepared in the dining room, wine selection par excellence and service with the master's touch.

We will remember for many a moon: a Casesar salad supreme tossed at our table by Al Cordero, our scallopini in chafing dish, frosted wine; and the final elegant touch, flaming cherry jubilee.

After dinner, or during dinner, there is dancing to the popular Town-Aires and if you haven't caught that "man with the wonderful voice" Dick Wheaton, who opened a week ago, why not make "tonight the night."

The Palos Verdes Players will open "Waltz of the Toradors," by Jean Anouilh tomorrow evening, at 8:30 p.m., in their new playhouse in the Palos Verdes Plaza.

Under the direction of Gladys Manu cast members include Kathleen Rogart, Ed Gangel, Pamela Deckett, Martin Deckett, Irene Eichel, Jerry Dulin, Carmela Oster and George Tremble.

Chef John Giorgio and Robert Reuben, owner, of the PEN & QUILL are wearing reams of beams these days.

The Chicago Gourmet Society selected the Manhattan Beach hotel-restaurant as one of the West Coast's outstanding dining establishments and winner of its annual "Award of Merit."

The Pen & Quill also took special honors from the windy city organization, one of the nation's leading gastronomic guilds, with its roast prime rib of beef dinner, over which local diners have clapped hands since 1952.

Comes May the award plaque will take a place of honor at this unique establishment.

HARNESS RACING SANTA ANITA

March 12 thru April 8

First Race: 1:30 p.m. Tues. thru Sat. DAILY DOUBLE FUN? YOU BET!

"Come Blow Your Horn," will open at Chapel Theatre March 20.

The three-act comedy by Neil Simon concerns a father's desire to have his two sons continue in his work of manufacturing wax fruit and the sons' desire to continue in the pursuit of the opposite sex.

Jack Daly is directing and will appear as the father. Jim Andrews is the man-about-town older son; Ed Rice the younger son; Jeannie Appel and Sally Slatter, both of Torrance, are the "feminine interests." Cassandra Leavitt plays the old fashioned-European-type mother.

Set and scenery work parties are scheduled for the next three weekends and all persons interested are welcome.

Cass Daley, famed movie and television singing star and known as the "Cyclone of Synoptation" was feted on her birthday anniversary with a steak dinner party at the Dominguez GOLDEN BULL Restaurant by owner Glenn Billingsley and his wife Lynne.

Known to television fans as the singing comedienne, Gertie Smertz, Miss Daley was cheered into another year by more than 20 friends including such celebrities as Andy Devine, June Allyson and Ray Milland.

LOCAL 'BEATLES'... Carson High School administrators and faculty donned wigs to help kick off the school's candy drive at a special student assembly. Beating out three songs were: Albert Luebke, from left, print shop teacher; Phillip Wilson, registrar; Donald R. Pelton, boys' vice-principal; Douglas Scott, music teacher; and B. J. Donahue, principal. Estimated profit from the drive which closed Tuesday met the quota of $6,000 to $7,000, with Barbara Leopardi and Bill Atkinson taking prizes as top sellers. The fund will be used for student body purchases, primarily athletic equipment and band uniforms.

Foundation to Sponsor Musician

The Young Musicians Foundation has announced the annual "debut audition" beginning June 13 at Royce Hall on the UCLA campus.

Qualifying young musicians will compete for four individual $1,000 awards in the categories of: piano, strings, voice, and composition.

Debut auditions co-chairmen, Dr. Raymond Kendall, dean of the School of Music of the University of Southern California, and Dr. W. Melnick, dean of the College of Fine Arts, University of California at Los Angeles, have stated that once again the audition finals will be televised from Royce Hall.

Entrance requirements are: a recital program and concerto must be submitted with application; two letters of recommendation from recognized musical sources; auditionists must assume transportation expenses; room and board will be provided by the YMF; and accompanists will be provided for out of town auditionists upon request. Age limit for pianist and string player division is 25 and singer and composer division, 30.

Audition applications and information may be received by writing to the Young Musicians Foundation at 242 S. Robertson Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hollywood Reporter

By Mike Connolly

Dear Mr. Connolly: I read in a paper that Liz Taylor has false teeth. Is this true and, if so, how many? —Ann Gulick, Peoria, Ill.

Dear Ann: She doesn't have a store-bought tooth in her head and everything else about her is real too. She does, however, have caps on some of her front teeth, as do most stars.

Dear Sir: How do they get all the ideas for those wild plots on "The Beverly Hillsbillies?" —Doris Kay Ferguson, Victoria, Texas.

Dear Doris: They dream them up. Sometimes I think they're more like nightmares than dreams but it's still a very, very funny show—usually. Especially when Nancy Kulp is on.

Dear Mr. Connolly: I think all these new sex movies are disgraceful. I wonder what will happen to our younger generation, growing up in this atmosphere of sex-sex-SEX. Are these pictures here to stay? It seems to me that such movies as "The Great Escape" and "Around the World in 80 Days" would prove to Hollywood that clean films are what we want to see. Or am I just narrow-minded—Mrs. Joseph Layton, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Layton: No you're not. I say hooray for you. I hate any kind of censorship but I'm all for fans such as yourself raising a hullabaloo and bombarding the studios with letters such as this. It's the good old democratic way of getting results. And don't forget to include on your anti-fifth arguments such big money-makers as "How the West Was Won" and "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," not to mention the clean ones that have made Walt Disney a multi-millionaire.

Dear Sir: I know you're from Chicago so I'm seeking your advice. I am interested in acting. Is there a good school here? Is one better than another? It is hard to get any information here. I am 21 and have two-and-a-half years of college. —Rosemary Polito, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Rosemary: Northwestern University's drama department is excellent (its alumni include Charlton Heston, Barbara Rush and Paula Prentiss) and so is the Goodman School of the Theatre. Other than those, I don't know.

(Mike Connolly welcomes all readers' questions but, due to the large volume of mail received it may be some time before the answer to your question appears in his column.)

Children's Fare Slated Easter Week

The Pasadena Playhouse will turn its mainstage over to children's theater with the presentation of "The Nutcracker" for Easter vacation.

A puppet-marionette spectacular performing in an enchanted forest to the music of Tchaikovsky, the orchestra members are lightning bugs seated on an ethereal flat drawn by two blue snails.

Puppets will include the love bugs, the waterbugs and the Sugar Plum Fairy. The Mosquito Maharaja rides on a floating magic carpet leaf while fleas juggle and do acrobatics. And there is a garden of flowers who, after being sprinkled with glitter dust, blossom and come to life to dance the "The Waltz of the Flowers."

"The Nutcracker" opens on March 21 and runs through March 28 with three shows daily at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. except Easter Sunday. There will be no performance at 1 p.m. Monday.
